*Business Teachers Receive CENTRALIA Dedication;
Christine Dark, Margaret Willett Selected by Annual Staff to Share Honor*

Two very deserving people have earned the dedication of this annual as well as the love and respect of many students.

Mrs. Christine Dark and Mrs. Margaret Willett have consistently prepared many of our students to enter and successfully compete in the business world. They have shown their true interest in students, patiently and understandingly encouraging them to do their best in whatever they attempt. This year Mrs. Dark and Mrs. Willett have organized Chatham Central's first business club. As co-sponsors of the F.B.L.A., they plan to provide interesting and educational activities for further training in the business field.

With our love and gratitude, we the Senior class of CCHS dedicate the 1973 CENTRALIA to Mrs. Christine Dark and Mrs. Margaret Willett.

We have just begun to Learn. Gaining and applying knowledge is an integral part of living, beginning at birth and continuing throughout a lifetime. Though only a small amount of learning takes place in the classroom alone, Chatham Central's curriculum has been set up with the goal of challenging students of varying abilities and interests. Business Administration, college preparatory, and vocational divisions lend variety and choice. New courses added this year are nursery production, hairdressing, harmony, Art IV, introduction to athletics, and marketing. Enrollment for the classes proves the value of consistently attempting to broaden the schedule. Chatham Central's courses offer only a beginning in preparing individuals for life and a challenge to continue a search for knowledge.

Art IV, Barbershop Harmony Additions Round Out

Two new courses have been added to the fine arts curriculum this year: Art IV and barbershop harmony. Though Art IV is not a separate class, students who are inclined toward an art career are guided toward specialization as they study with Art III students. Barbershop harmony encourages talented students to learn parts and perform in quartets. With the addition of barbershop harmony, there is currently a music course offered each period of the day. A full schedule is possible by the addition of a band instructor, Mr. Charles Safrit. Miss Polly Yow now teaches only chorus classes. Mr. Safrit teaches one band class and directs the Chatham Central Marching Band. In addition to painting, art students have varied short courses in ceramics, sculpture and crafts (macrame, batik, tie-dye).

Food Service Class Acquires Enviably Reputation in School and Community for Bakery Products Catered

To prepare students to be efficient homemakers, nine home economics classes are offered this year. Included in the over-all program are family relations, child development, foods, clothing, consumer economics, first aid, and home management.

Home Ec. I introduces sewing, planning menus and budgets, cooking, first aid, and child care. Home Ec. II is an advanced study for which the foundation has been laid in the first course. Preparation for marriage is stressed in family living. Role playing, films, discussion, qualified consultants, and reading acquaint classes with family relations.

Chatham Central's food service class has gained a reputation for their confectioneries catered to school clubs as well as to the public.

Language Arts Curriculum Enriched by Use of Multi-Media Teaching Approach

English and French, the two languages offered at Central, guide students to correctly express themselves through speaking and writing. Four years of English are required for graduation, while two years of French are required and a third year is offered for those students taking the college preparatory courses. Journalism I and II develop writing skills and offer practical training in publishing the school newspaper. In English classes, films, filmstrips, records, and group and individual projects help students gain a deeper understanding of grammar and literature. Each year Seniors are able to put the things they've learned to use when they write a required research paper. French I includes learning the basic fundamentals of French and learning commonly-used words, phrases and sentences. French II is concerned mainly with the grammatical side of the language. The third year of French is spent reviewing grammar and studying literature. All the French classes play French games, listen to records, and watch filmstrips.

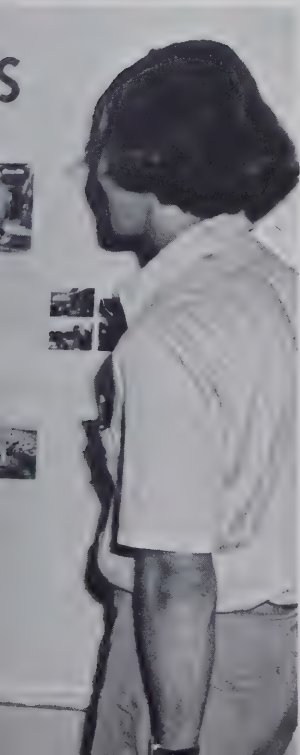

This year Miss Constance Hill, French teacher, has shared with her classes her experiences in France and Italy during the summer.

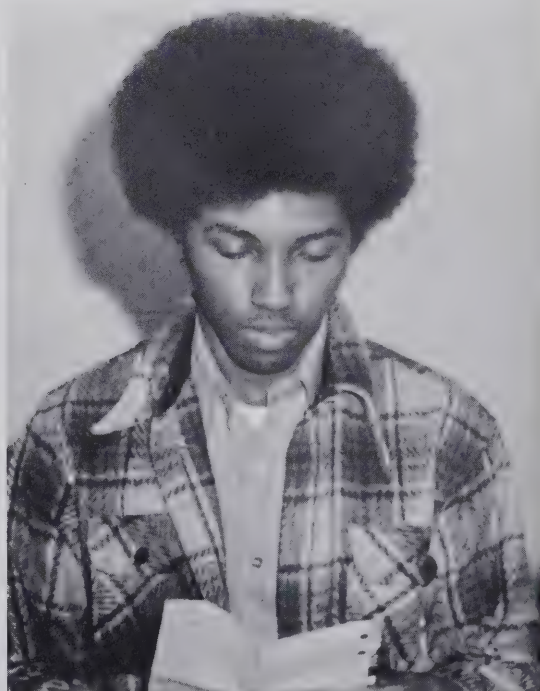

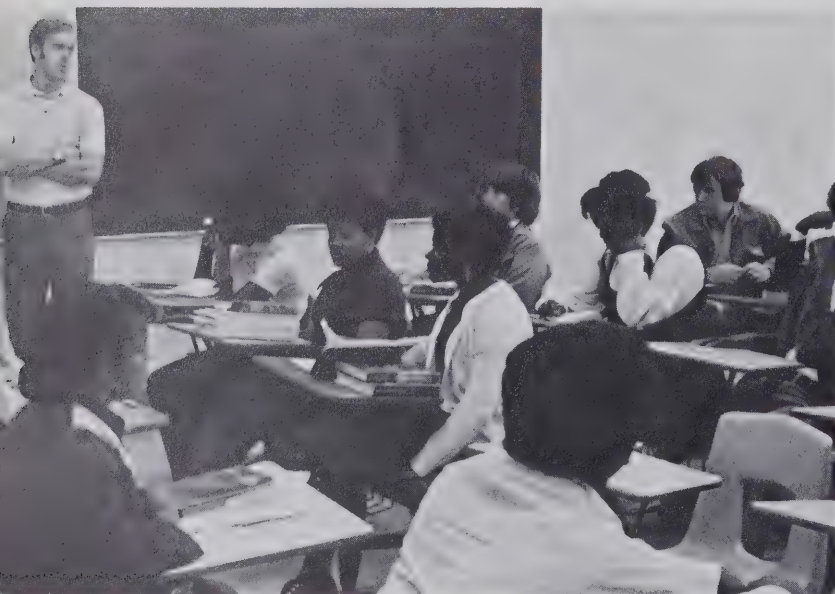

LEFT PAGE 18: In Freshman English class, Emma Bradford, Diane Gaines, Jan Scott, Susan Tillman, Cathy Atkins, and Pam Phillips prepare to discuss the statement "One of the cruelest ways to treat people is to be indifferent to them," taken from the story "Through the Tunnel." National, State Election Campaigns Offer Educational Opportunities for Class Discussions, Ballot Marking

United States history is the only course required for graduation in the social studies curriculum, while world history, modern history, and civics are electives.

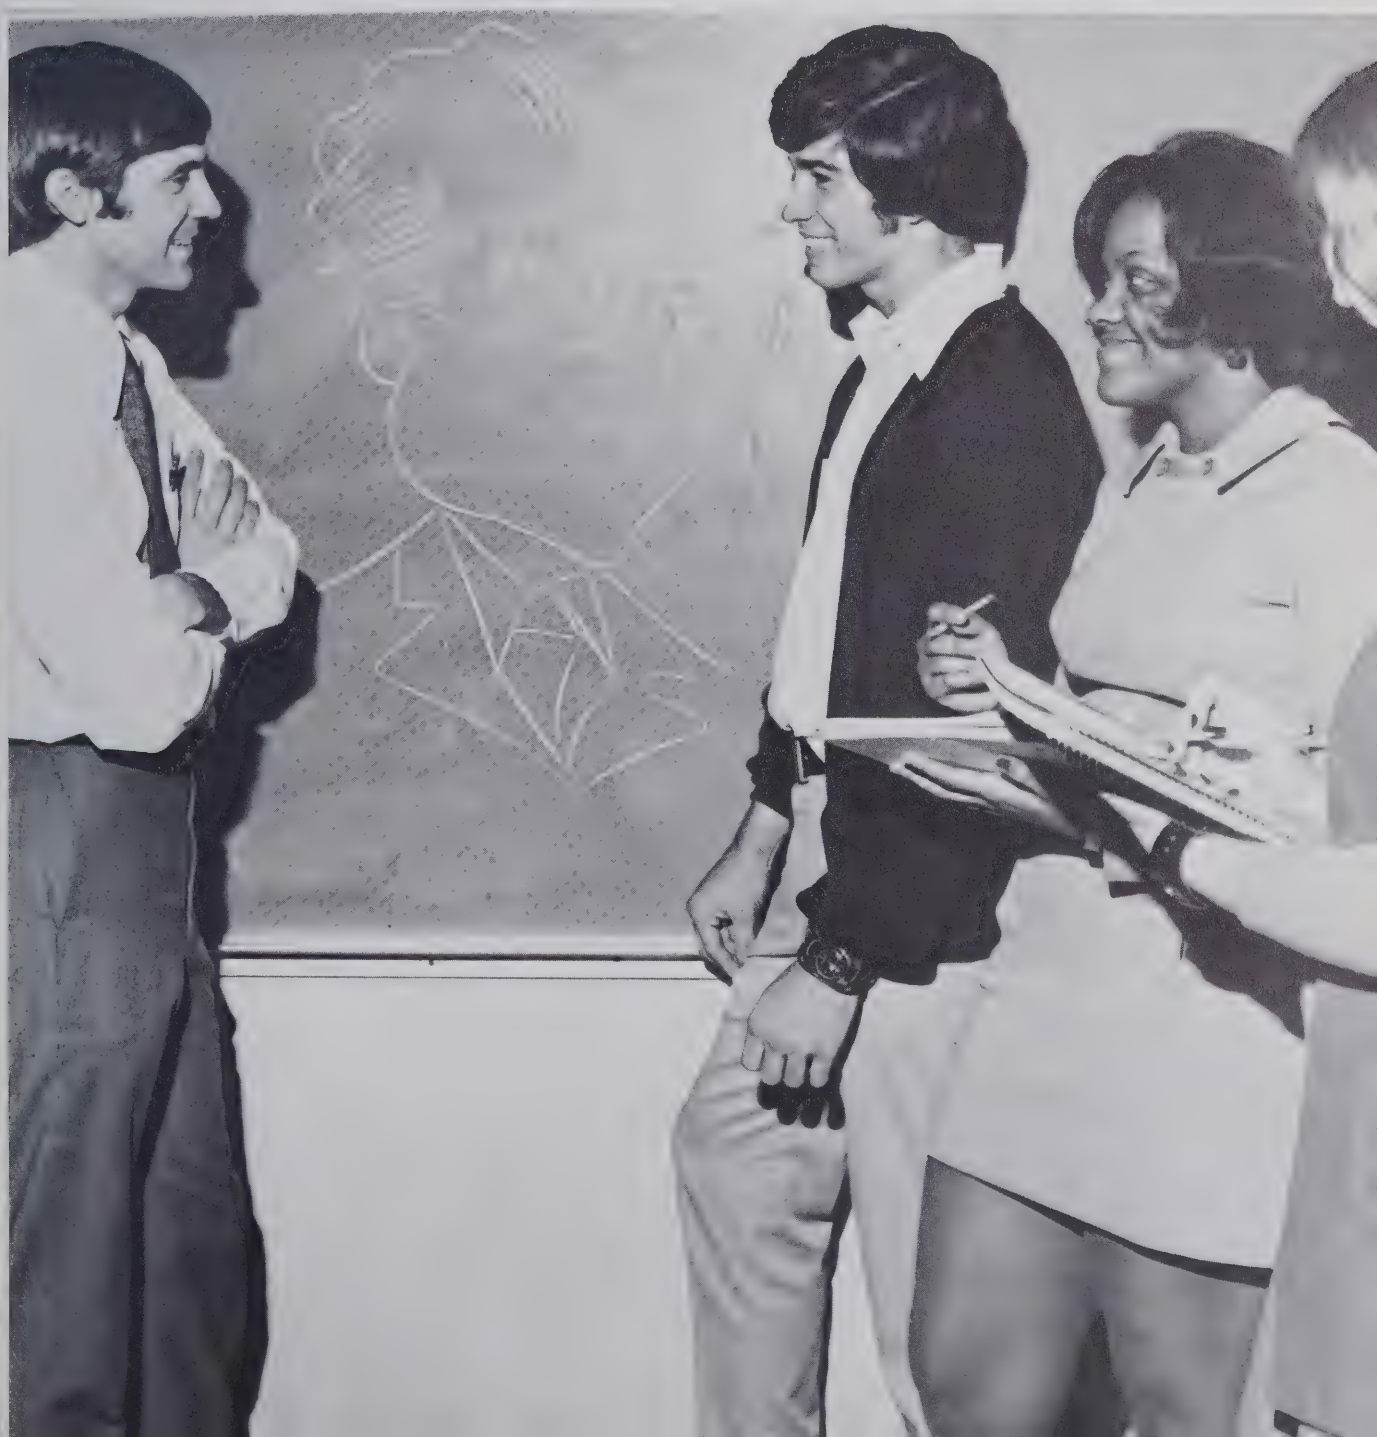

History courses stress correlation of past and present events to determine how the past effects the present.

United States history gives an in-depth study of how our own country was formed and follows her economic, industrial, political, and cultural growth up to the present. Students learn to value the heritage which has made our country great.

World history traces man and the development of civilization throughout the world.

Important happenings in the world today are studied in modern history, and civics deals with citizens' rights and duties.

LOWER PAGE 23: Biology students Teresa Moore, Gwen Thrift, Connie Moody, Karen Wilson and Carolyn Brown dissect frogs as Mr. Shell helps them identify the different organs.

Laboratory Experiments Stressed by Department to Aid in Understanding, Learning, and Applying Scientific Information

In basic science, the aim is to find and test fundamental knowledge. The Science Department of Chatham Central is well-equipped to satisfy the inquisitive, scientific minds of youth. This year, the science department offers physical science, biology, and chemistry. Two sciences are required to graduate, one of which must be biology. A freshman course, physical science introduces the basic concepts of modern science. Biology, offered to sophomores, presents facts relating to the plant and animal kingdom. Chemistry is often organized around major ideas called scientific principles. Students analyze these principles and observe how common occurrences, such as lightning, take place. In the lab these basic scientific principles are applied. Field trips, films, filmstrips, and projects are teaching devices designed to enhance the program.

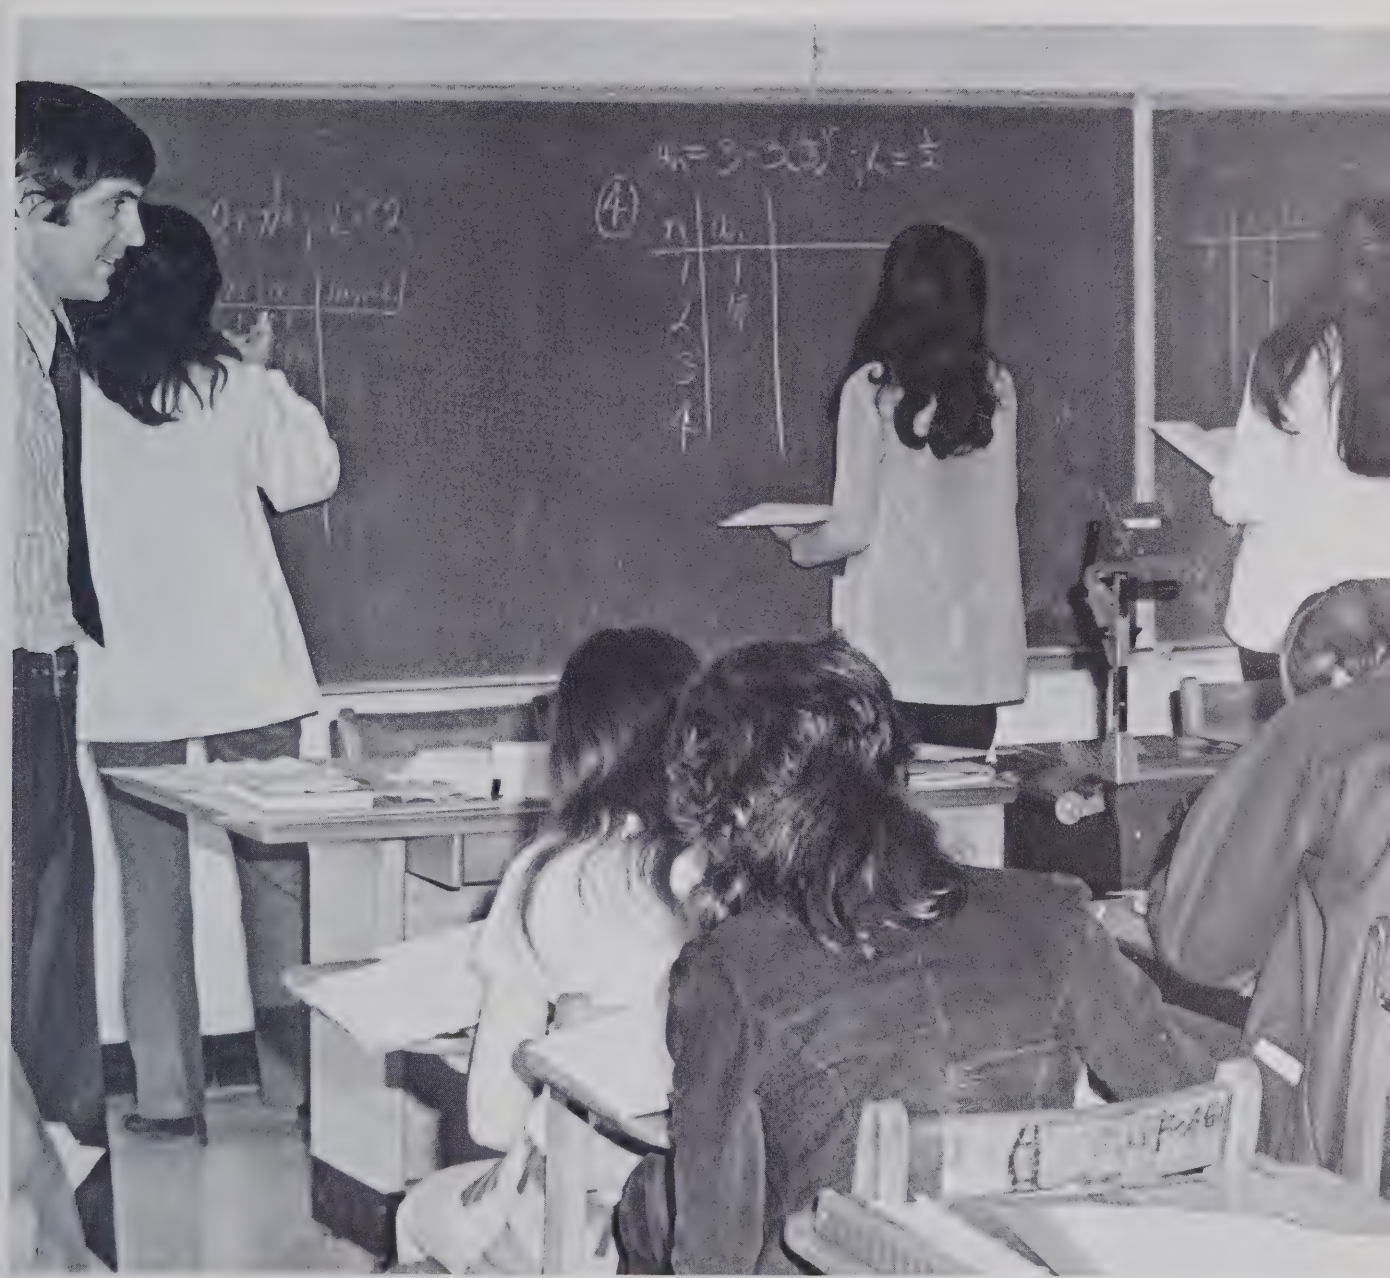

Variety of Math Courses Offered to Meet Individual Needs;

Chatham Central offers a variety of math courses from which students must elect two in order to graduate. Consumer math, general math, business math, geometry, Algebra I and II, and advanced math make up the curriculum.

Consumer math confronts students with many things that may help them in everyday life, such as planning budgets, making out tax returns, and reading maps. General math presents the applications of mathematics in such a way that they can be clearly understood by persons of different age levels and ability. Geometry presents students with many facts about triangles, parallelograms, circles and spheres, training them to think. Algebra I and II extends the scope of arithmetic to include unknown and variable quantities. Advanced math is designed to prepare students for a college course in calculus.

Enrollment Doubles in Office Occupations Course; Additional Typing I Class Scheduled to Meet Demand

Enrollment doubled this year in office occupations, a two-hour course added to the business curriculum last year. The most advanced business course, it is designed to prepare prospective secretaries for the job. Training in the use of office machines is offered and individual projects to encourage independent thinking are assigned. Other course offerings in business are Typing I and II, shorthand, business math, and bookkeeping. Elective to the student body, these courses are required for office occupations students. Typing I attracts many students who want to learn basic typing skills for personal typing but do not intend to further their training in the business field. To meet the demand this year, the course is scheduled four periods per day.

Introduction to Athletics Added to Physical Education Curriculum Offering Advanced Students Further Training by Participation

Introduction to athletics was added to the health and physical education program this year. In addition to the required health and physical education class for freshmen, students in introduction to athletics must have taken advanced physical education. The new course, taught by Coach Marlyn Scott, offers a study of the rules of different sports.

Advanced P.E. is a popular course with the athletically-inclined students. Requiring no classroom hours, this elective class is designed to develop skills in various sports by practice. In the required freshman course, classroom hours are spent learning first aid, body structure, the parts of the body and their function, and personality and behavioral patterns. The lab hours keep students physically active, either playing various sports or helping to keep the gymnasium clean.

Drivers' Training Students Motivated by Desire for Licenses

Drivers' Education is offered in order to teach students the correct way to drive, preparing them to obtain an operator's license at age sixteen. Taught by Mr. Ronald Scott, students are able to sign up for this course during their study halls for six weeks. This course consists of two parts: classroom study and roadwork. The classroom study involves learning driving techniques, road signs, and highway laws. Students are shown films of tragic accidents in order to gain an insight to the responsibilities one assumes when he gets behind the wheel of a car. Students taking drivers' training also have to have six hours of actual driving experience.

For prospective bus drivers, bus training is offered, taught by Mr. Roy Curlee. It consists of two days of classroom study and enough hours of roadwork to give each individual first-hand experience.

Nursery Production Added to Vocational Curriculum; Community Benefits by Services Rendered by Students

Nursery production was added this year to an already broad vocational field. Students taking the course landscaped many homes and businesses in surrounding communities, beautifying many areas. A third greenhouse, constructed by the FFA, will be used by the horticulture classes for bedding plants, specimen plants, pot plants, and poinsettias. Another construction project, done by Mr. Leon Everett's bricklaying students, will provide a classroom-shop for Bricklaying I and II on the campus. They previously have had to commute to J.S. Waters for instruction. Other vocational courses offered are Agriculture 701 and 702, ag. machinery, forestry, general horticulture, floriculture, cabinetmaking, auto mechanics and distributive education. All the classes prepare students for careers, with or without further training. They also benefit the community now by rendering services to gain experience.

grows physically, mentally, emotionally. Sports play an important part in the development of all three areas, especially in the lives of dedicated athletes. A real athlete accepts the challenge of hours of practice, sacrificing many other outings and activities to perfect his game. A good athlete is not only physically adept, but he is also mentally proficient as well as emotionally stable.

Chatham Central boasts several such athletes in football, basketball, track, baseball, and golf, and the cheerleaders have revived genuine school spirit among students and fans. The erection of a new fence for the football field and scoreboard for the gym added pride in the physical facilities. But there is much room for improvement.

We've only just begun to tap the stored values a good athletic program has to offer.

Cheerleaders' Enthusiasm Sparks Revival of School Spirit

Chief Diana Brewer sparked the cheerleaders to a most successful season as they led the student body to a new high in school spirit. Original skits and cheers made the pep rallies "come alive." Enthusiastic backing of the teams spurred players to perform at their best. Senior Joyce Minter, Juniors Rachel Beal, Fonda Caviness, Leslie Dowd, Faye McCabe and Sophomore Renée Jones complete the varsity squad. Mr. Ronald Scott, Athletic Director, is their advisor.

Central's cheerleaders are elected in the spring prior to the year in which they will serve. A faculty-student committee judges the girls at try-outs and the top seven selections make up the squad.

Like any team member, a cheerleader must sacrifice in order to meet all practices. Beginning in the summer months, the squad meets regularly to learn yells and coordinate routine movements. Practice sessions during the school year are scheduled once or twice each week after school and attendance is required.

In addition to their routine responsibilities, the cheerleaders make spirit posters displayed in the halls to promote good attendance at the games and genuine interest in the teams.

Bears Score Most Points Ever Gaining 5-5 Record; M. Scott New Head Coach

Under the direction of a new head coach, Chatham Central's Varsity Football Team boasts the best record in three years and scored the most points ever. Coach Marlyn Scott's Bears had a winning season with a 5-5 record.

In the opening game, CCHS downed non-conference foe Ruffin, but were unable to beat Jordan Matthews or Union Pines, the conference opponents of the next two weeks.

Games four and five were smashing victories for the Bears over Hargrave Military Academy and North Moore.

Facing conference champions Northwood and the number two team, West Montgomery, was the toughest task of the season, both games resulting in losses for Central. East Montgomery handed the Bears a heartbreaking loss, gaining a slim 22-20 win. Mental mistakes in this game proved costly for the home team.

In the final two games, Central edged the Denton Red Raiders in a hard-fought 38-34 victory and battled Southwest Randolph in the mud to a 14-0 finish.

Senior Charles Moore, who led the conference in scoring, was named to the All-Conference Team. Tony Cheek, Marty Oldham, Ricky Marsh, Robert Parrish, and James Potter made Honorable Mention.

Lady Bears Are First Central Team to Clinch First Place Season Trophy in Central Tarheel Conference

Chatham Central Lady Bears, coached by Marlyn Scott, clinched first place in the Central Tar Heel Conference with a 17-3 season record. This is the first such honor any team at Central has claimed in the CTH Conference. Whipping their first two opponents, the team suffered their first loss to North Moore. They came back to beat Northwood in the next contest but again lost a hard-fought game in overtime to Southwest Randolph. A gallant struggle with West Montgomery ended as the Bears' second conference defeat. After being 0-2 in the conference race, the team bounced back to win their next 14 games, 10 of which were conference victories. Handing J.M. their second defeat, the Lady Bears broke a scoring record with 83 points. Having drawn a bye in the first round of the tournament, the team met West Montgomery in the semi-finals only to be edged out by a 47-45 margin. Cheryl Brewer and Sandra Williamson were named to the All-Conference Team. It was the fourth time for Cheryl and the third for Sandra. Cheryl's 1120 point career record is the highest ever recorded at CCHS.

Varsity Bears Acquire Best Season Record Since 1965

Coach Kelly Craven's boys' team fought to an 11-11 season record, Central's best boy's basketball record since 1965. They placed two players, Ricky Marsh and Norman Hanner, on the All-Conference Team. Ricky claimed the same honor last year. Norman's 16.5 scoring average was the second highest in the CTH conference. Though they did not make All-Conference, Charles Moore and Ronald Taylor consistently contributed with great rebounding and hustle.

Two conference wins over Northwood were special, but perhaps the most exciting game of the regular season was the victory over Jordan Matthews at Siler City.

Paired with Jordan Matthews in the opening rounds of the CTH Tournament, the Bears edged the Jets 58-52 to advance to the semi-finals.

Tournament champion North Moore knocked the Bears out of further competition by defeating them 60-49 in the next game.

With a 13-8 record, Chatham Central's 1972 Baseball Team, coached by Ronald Scott, ranked fourth in the Central Tarheel Conference and placed four players on the All-Conference Roster: Tony Cheek, second baseman; Ken Carter, pitcher; Craig Lambert, short stop; and Phil Cockman, catcher. Beginning strong, the Bears took five straight victories before a single loss and went on to improve last year's record. Junior Tony Cheek led the hitting with an average of .382; Ken Carter led in the strike-out division, fanning 74 batters in 66 1/3 innings.

Monogram Club choice for the Most Valuable Player was Randy White.

William Brewer Named Most Improved Player in Golf; Mike Burns Again Captures Most Valuable Player Award

On March 23, the Central golf team opened its season in a tri-meet against East Montgomery and Jordan Matthews. The Bears placed third, only 22 strokes behind East.

Later, Central, competing against Northwood and Jordan Matthews, experienced the highlight of the season when they came in second place beating Northwood by five strokes.

Four other conference games were played before the Bears went into the tournament match. When all holes were played and the scores tallied, Central finished only one stroke behind Northwood and four strokes behind East Montgomery. Mike Burns, the only senior on the team, missed being named All Conference by only three strokes, but he was given honorable mention. For the second year in a row, he was awarded the Most Valuable Player trophy by the Monogram Club.

Both additional practice and added experience helped the team to have a much improved season over last year. Coach Marlyn Scott cited sophomore William Brewer as the most improved player.

Undefeated Girls' Track Team Again Wins Chatham County

Chatham Central's Girls' Track Team excelled again in 1972 competing in five meets and losing only in the State Meet. For the second consecutive year, they claimed the Chatham County Championship. Competing against Northwood in the meet, CCHS athletes claimed 3 of the 4 high scorers, and sent the Lady Chargers home in defeat.

Coach Marlyn Scott pointed out that many individual records established by the 1971 team were broken during this season: Shot Put, Cheryl Brewer; Discus, Becky Johnson; High Jump, Ruth Ann Taylor; Long Jump, Karen Wilson; 50 yard dash Sheryl Lambert and Sandra Williamson; 50 yard Low Hurdles, Sandra Williamson; 100 yard dash, Sheryl Lambert and Karen Wilson; 880 Relay, Pam Smith, Rene Phillips, Candy Dixon, and Sandy Fesmire; 440 yard dash, Candy Dixon; 880 yard dash, Cheryl Brewer. Though not breaking established records, the 440 relay team, consisting of Gaylene Harper, Sandra Williamson, Karen Wilson, and Sheryl Lambert, won every race in which they competed.

Cheryl Brewer merited the Most Valuable Player title awarded by the Monogram Club, being the only runner to place in the State Track Meet.

Cheryl consistently placed in various events to help the team acquire a winning record.

Boys' Track Team Experiences Disappointing Season; Daniel Marsh Receives M.V.P. Award

Lack of interest in participation limited success in Boys' Track 1972. Coached by Richard Hughes and John Glover, the limited number of team members worked hard but were not successful in claiming a victory in any meet. Daniel Marsh received the Monogram Club's Most Valuable Player award. Other stand-outs were Johnny Jones in the broad jump and Mike Fox in the shot put.

Wanda Phillips Elected Chief, Donna Jones, Co-Chief of Eight Member JV Cheerleading Squad

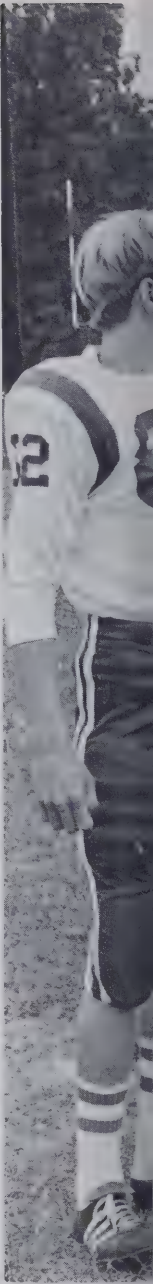

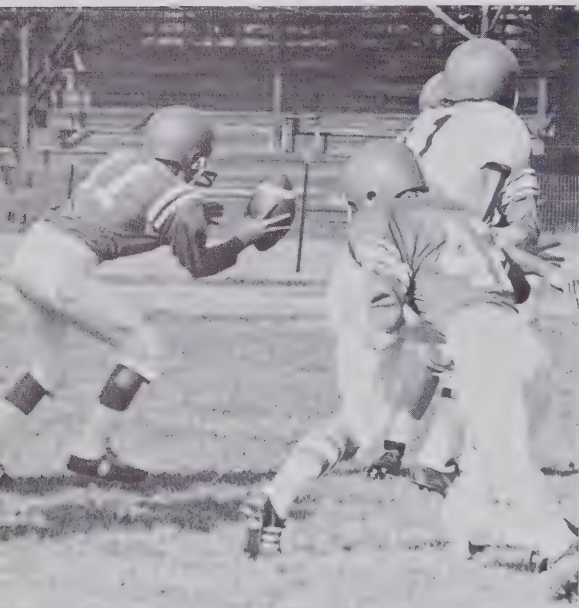

Wanda Phillips, returning from last year's squad, was voted chief of the junior varsity cheerleaders, while Freshman Donna Jones was chosen co-chief. Sophomores Ann Rives and Marta Brown, Freshmen Sheryl Phillips, Karen Lawton, Crystal Barber, and Gayla Elkins are the other squad members. Cheering at junior varsity games and assisting at pep rallies, these girls have boosted school spirit with their enthusiasm and vigor. J.V. cheerleaders are picked in late September. After concluding several practice sessions, the hopefuls appear before a faculty-student selection committee for try-outs. The committee names the seven top vote-getters to the squad. An eighth was added this year because of a tie for the seventh spot.

Freshman Bonnie Stumpf was chosen as the only alternate. Much interest was displayed as fifteen girls attended practice sessions and tried out for the squad. Mr. Ronald Scott is their advisor.

Kelly Craven New Coach of Junior Varsity Football; Persistence, High Spirits Fail to Offset Disappointing Season Record of 0-6

Chatham Central's Baby Bears, coached by Kelly Craven assisted by Gerald Binkley, experienced a disappointing season without a win.

Opening their six-game schedule against Union Pines, the J.V.'s failed to score and were defeated 26-0. Things looked better for the home team as they scored the first touchdown against the second opponent, North Moore, and held the lead until the third quarter. To enter the scoring column boosted the team's morale. Strong Northwood and West Montgomery teams held the Baby Bears scoreless, but the persistent team again showed improvement as they scored both against East Montgomery and the North Moore Mustangs to end the season.

Coach Jerry Pike's Junior Varsity Girls Gain Winning Record

Compiling a 9-5 record, the Junior Varsity girls finished the season exactly as Coach Jerry Pike had predicted. The winning record is a result of teamwork, with each player contributing her best efforts. Nadine Marsh was high scorer for the season with a fourteen point average, while Karen Wilson was the most improved player. A highlight of the season was the 23-21 victory over West Montgomery and the heartbreak of the year was losing to North Moore 47-46 in overtime in the opening round of the tournament. Four players will return to lend some experience for next year's squad, while eight other team members will advance to vie for positions on the varsity squad.

Junior Varsity, Freshman Boys' Teams Struggle Through Disappointing Seasons to Gain Experience

Chatham Central's Junior Varsity Boys' Team, under the supervision of Coach John Glover, fought in vain for a win through a long fourteen-game schedule. Sportsmanship displayed as well as experience gained failed to completely offset the disappointing season record. The Cubs didn't quite measure up to the height of their opponents, a decisive disadvantage since height plays such an impressive role in the game of basketball today. Central's Freshman Boys' Team, coached by Colby Tilley, also had a winless season.

Team to Winning Season; 10-4 Record Compiled

With little experience, the 1972 Junior Varsity Baseball Team, coached by Jerry Pike, developed into a winning team. The team consisted of nine freshmen and four sophomores. They boasted a 10-4 season record. The team got off to a good start by defeating Bennett twice, then by whipping Southwest Randolph by a score of 15 to 10. The Bears then traveled to Southwest Randolph only to suffer their first loss. The following week the team returned once again to the winning column. They won the next seven games, two of which were shut-outs over West Montgomery and Southwest Randolph. The Bears once again met defeat against North Moore. The following week the Mustangs of North Moore came to CCHS, but only to be defeated. In the last three games, Northwood won a close pair, while Chatham Central was able to again defeat North Moore.

CENTRALIA '73 Staff Strives to Maintain Standards Set by National School Yearbook Association Judges awarded the 1972 CENTRALIA a grade of A. This year's staff of 21 have worked to achieve an equally good rating.

In September, Layout Artist Bob Chappell came and assisted with cover selection for the chosen theme "We have just begun to . . ." as well as color and lettering styles.

Dropping the features section this year, the staff added more pages to other sections to provide ample coverage of school activities. Business managers organized and directed a summer advertising campaign which netted approximately $2700 toward production costs.

Allotted one period to work per day, without class credit, the staff had "Just begun to . . . panic" as the ninety percent deadline approached on Dec. 5. Persistence, determination, and many nudges from the sponsor, Mrs. Betty Caviness, combined to produce the 1973 CENTRALIA.

Modern Mimeograph Machine Aids BEAR FACTS Production; Crossword Puzzle Contest, Poet's Corner New Features

Purchase of an up-to-date mimeograph machine greatly aided the BEAR FACTS staff with faster and more efficient production. The staff contributed $200 of the total price.

New sections of the publication this year are a poet's corner by Editor Cherry Bright and a crossword puzzle contest. The contest winner, the first person to solve the puzzle, receives $2.00 prize money. Plans are being made by 1972-73 staff to obtain a Polaroid camera. This type camera will help to make pictures available immediately so that layouts can be planned and printing done sooner.

Advisor Jerry Wilson works with a staff of seventeen journalism students to publish the monthly editions of the school newspaper. In addition to sales at Chatham Central, circulation is extended to Bennett, Bonlee, and J.S. Waters Elementary schools.

Active President Stresses Beta Club Involvement in Leading; Christmas Project to Aid Underprivileged, Tutoring Program Are Rewarding

Working with the Student Council on the tutoring program, sponsoring "Operation Santa Claus" to provide gifts for needy families, awarding a $100 scholarship to a deserving senior kept Beta Club members actively involved in leading by serving others.

Leaders for 1972 included Mr. Jerry Wilson, advisor; Audrey Poe, president; Melissa Peace, vice-president; Teresa Stout, secretary; and Vivian Phillips, treasurer. They led in revising the club's local constitution.

This year the Beta Club sang in the talent competition at the District Convention at Jordan Matthews and attended the State Convention in Asheville. Beta Club members must attain a 3.4 average to qualify for membership and maintain a 3.2 average to remain in the club.

Chatham Central's Student Council joined the National Association of Student Councils this year. President Rex Scott headed the local council in setting up a new committee, the School Improvement Committee, formed to co-ordinate ideas for Student Council projects.

All the officers of the County Student Council this year are from Chatham Central. President Bob Parrish helped to launch Operation Clean Sweep to rid the county of roadside debris. Varied and interesting assembly programs were sponsored by the student council during review periods. CCSC also sponsored a Sophomore Careers Day to help students obtain information about new fields open to them. The group again headed a tutoring program.

Coach Marlyn Scott Assumes Sponsorship of Monogram Club; Senior Ricky Marsh Elected President of Central's Lettering Athletes

Under the direction of a new advisor, Mr. Marlyn Scott, the Monogram Club chose the following officers: Ricky Marsh, president; Candy Dixon, vice-president; Cheryl Brewer, secretary; Sandy Fesmire, treasurer; and Keith Dixon, reporter. This year seventeen seniors earned monogrammed sweaters either by having lettered in a varsity sport or by being a member of the varsity cheerleading squad. The sweaters are purchased by the club for senior members. Any member of the club could buy a school jacket.

In the spring, an Awards Banquet is scheduled at which members are honored and letters, certificates, and awards are presented for achievements in the various sports. A Most Valuable Player Award goes to one member of each varsity team. Tickets will be sold to parents of members wishing to attend the banquet.

Active Pep Club Purchases American Flag for Gymnasium

Under the leadership of a new sponsor, Mrs. Donna Allred, the Pep Club had an active year. They bought a large American flag for the gym and arranged for the National Anthem to be played 'at basketball games.

Members wore their beanies and sat in a designated spot at games in order to lend volume to the yells and to support the cheerleaders in promoting school spirit. They were also active in pep rallies and in advertising games to promote good attendance.

Any student is eligible to become a member upon displaying an interest in promoting school spirit and payment of club dues of one dollar. Officers elected by the members are Tony Cheek, president; Marty Oldham, vice-president; Rachel Beal, secretary; Sandy Fesmire, treasurer; and Cathy Phillips, reporter.

Future Homemakers Stress Need to Read; Southeastern Day Care Center Benefits by Club's Services

Future Homemakers of America worked toward the goal "Heed the Need to Read" by sending members every week to Southeastern Day Care Center for a story hour with the children and by donating books to the center. They also carried out one service project per month either in the school or in local communities.

Officers were elected after a weiner roast which launched the club's year. Linda Stout was voted president; Debbie Rachel, vice-president; Janette Brady, secretary; Ruth Ann Taylor, treasurer; Rachel Beal, reporter; Regina Jenkins, parliamentarian; Robin Cole, recreation leader; and Sherry Beal, historian.

In November, members attended the FHA District V Rally in Hillsborough. Chatham Central's chapter was responsible for giving the minutes from last year's rally. Plans were made to attend the State FHA Rally in April also.

Future Farmers of America Construct Central's Third Greenhouse

Constructing a third greenhouse on the campus is the main project of the Future Farmers of America this year. Financed by club members' sale of plants grown in the greenhouses and by county subsidies, the project should be completed by January 1. In June, at the state convention, the Forestry Team won fourth place in the state. Tools, dairying judging, parliamentary procedure, and public speaking entries placed first in the district. Chapter President Robert Parrish was elected President of Chatham-Alamance Federation. Future Farmers of America places emphasis on leadership, scholarship, and character development. Though training in public speaking, members become better leaders in their communities. During the summer members attend leadership schools and FFA camps. In August Chatham Central will hold a leadership school.

New Countywide Dual Busing System Proves Advantageous

For the first time, Chatham Central is currently operating a dual-busing system. This system is advantageous to all schools. The feeder schools now use mainly adult drivers; however, a few high school students are still driving for the elementary schools. With this system of transportation, the number of Chatham Central bus drivers has been reduced to ten.

Individuals must have established and continue to hold a safe driving record, free from traffic violations, to apply for and hold a bus driver's position. All bus drivers try to set a good driving record for Chatham County. In appreciation of this service, the senior bus drivers of Chatham Central are awarded bus pins at Awards Day in May.

Club Officers Randy Keck, President; Charles Fields, Vice-president; Mike Oldham, Treasurer; Carlton Powers, Reporter; Brenda Joyce, Secretary; and James Poe, Parliamentarian were installed on Parents Night, October 23, 1972. Student Assistants' Voluntary Services to Library Help Librarian to Have Time for Reading Guidance

Eighteen students this year work for the librarian, Mrs. Betty Leonard, during one period per day. Their work includes helping to process new books, shelf-reading to determine whether books are lost, checking out books and audio-visual equipment, pulling magazines or setting up microfilm readers for research, sending reminder notices to students who have overdue books, and helping to keep all library materials in their proper place. Student assistants volunteer their services instead of being assigned to a study hall. They receive only honorary credit at the end of the year when their services are evaluated. Their efficiency and dedication help to free the librarian to do more individual reading guidance.

Sponsor's Tour of France Provides Resource Material for French Club Members to Enrich Program Activities

French club members have shared vicariously a tour of France through their sponsor, Miss Constance Hill, who traveled there this past summer. To teach her students how to use French money, Miss Hill helped them to set up a model French market in which to shop.

Various other projects of the group were to make a miniature French museum, to give a Christmas play, to dine in a French restaurant in Chapel Hill and to hold an autobiography seminar. The autobiographies, told entirely in French, not only gave the members a chance to know each other better, but also cultivated their listening ability. Officers for this year are Robert Hayes, president; Vivian Phillips, vice-president; Fonda Caviness, secretary; and Scarlett Moody, treasurer.

Future Business Leaders of America Chapter Organized at Central; Members Will Contribute Typewriter Covers for First Project

CCHS students planning to enter business careers after graduation are members of a newly-formed club called Future Business Leaders of America, organized and sponsored by the business teachers, Mrs. Christine Dark and Mrs. Margaret Willett. Drafting a local constitution to govern the club has been a major task of a committee and the club officers President Peggy Brooks, Vice-president Phyllis O. Perry, Secretary-treasurer Marsha Jourdan, Reporter Sue Hancock, and Parliamentarian Janice Womble. As their main project of the year, the FBLA chose to make typewriter covers in the school colors to be used in both typing rooms. Activities of the club will acquaint the members with varied business roles and provide information about further education for specific career choices.

BEAR CREEK, N.C.

Charles Safrit Assumes Position as New Band Director

Appointing Twelve Flag Girls to Add Color to Performances

Under the leadership of new band director, Charles Safrit, the Chatham Central Marching Band spent a very active and satisfying year. The band highlighted all home football games in addition to performing in several away games. To carry the school colors, twelve flag girls were added this year. Like the letter girls, they followed a practiced routine.

On September 30, 1972, the band attended Band Day at Duke University. Although bad weather prevailed, Duke beat the Virginia Cavaliers and the fun was not dampened.

Band Officers for 1972-73 were chosen. Field Commander is Head Majorette Sherree Baxter; Captain, Gordon Phillips; First Lieutenants, Teresa Stout and Craig Lambert.

In addition to their other activities, the Band also performed in the Siler City Christmas parade.

Mr. Safrit's guidance and interest made this year one of the best in the band's five-year existence.

Boosters Aid Concert Choir in Buying New Robes; Barbershop Harmony Class Added to Train Quartets

Chatham Central's Concert Choir, the most accomplished group in the music department, recently purchased new choir robes with the help of the newly organized Choral Boosters Club. Made up of interested parents and friends, the club co-ordinates fund-raising projects to stabilize a budget to meet the choir's expenses. Composed of members of the Concert Choir, Barbershop Harmony, added this year, trains students to perform in smaller groups. Quartets from this group provide entertainment for many civic and community programs.

Highlighting the 1972 Christmas Concert featuring the Concert Choir was a visit at "The Christmas Party" by Frances Bavier, better known as "Aunt Bea" for her role in the much-loved Andy Griffith television series.

In addition to a spring program of music performed at local churches, the Concert Choir heads a concert including all the choruses. The Spring Concert theme is "Patriotic U S A" planned around love, freedom, and brotherhood.

Choruses Have Busy Schedules of Public Performances; Girls' Chorus Entertains Feeder Schools at Christmas

Junior Chorus, Girls' Chorus, and Boys' Chorus directed by Miss Polly Yow, each met for one class period per day and were actively engaged in a number of public performances throughout the year.

Junior Chorus members performed at civic engagements and participated in the Chatham County Choral Festival. Girls' Chorus, forty-four voices strong, traveled to Bonlee and Bennett Elementary Schools, where they sang an arrangement of Christmas music. The well-received performance lent culture as well as entertainment. The Boys' Chorus performed, along with all the Choruses, at both the Christmas and Spring Concerts at Chatham Central. These choruses not only provide musical training; they also offer many students an enjoyable way of expressing themselves whereby they gain much personal satisfaction.

come together—not only academically but also gaining an experience in human relations. Learning to accept individuals' unique qualities and adjusting in heterogeneous groups brings us closer. Each individual is someone special, and being able to relate to one another contributes greatly that different talents, interests, and backgrounds can be blended. Striving to reach higher goals in the educational process, sharing in triumphs as well as failures, and loving instead of hating are all in at least the developmental stages. Administrators, faculty, teachers' aids, custodial staff, lunchroom personnel, students, all contributing in their special areas, have helped to create an atmosphere conducive to learning. Abraham Lincoln said, "A house divided cannot stand," so it is with a school.

Phillips and Scott Again Head CCHS Administration; Teachers' Aides, Secretaries Render Varied Services

Mr. Wayne E. Phillips, principal, and Mr. Marlyn Scott, assistant principal, headed Chatham Central's administrative staff. Devoted to the school and the student body, they capably regulated and guided student policies. Supervising and giving advice constituted a large part of their varied duties.

Mrs. Marilyn Wilson, Mr. Phillips' secretary, also served as bookkeeper. Mrs. Carol Wilson was secretary to the guidance counselor and three teachers' aides — Mrs. Evelyn Harris, Mrs. Janice Scott, and Mrs. Margie Woolard — were employed this year. They performed many services which freed the teachers to spend more time on preparation for effective teaching.

An active Parent-Teacher Association, headed by President Willa Moore, aided in communication and understanding.

Pamela Garrison Is New Special Education Teacher; Activities to Prepare Students for Life Stressed

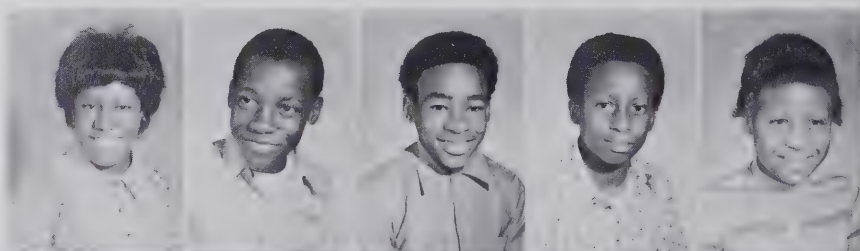

Chatham Central's Special Education Class, made up of students from the three feeder schools, gained a capable new teacher this year, Mrs. Pamela Garrison. She directed varied activities, including educational games to develop skills needed in the thinking process, to teach the students basic word and math skills. Much emphasis was placed on individual attention to encourage each student to progress independently at his own speed. To prepare them for life, the students also practiced counting change to understand fractional parts of the dollar and they were taught social graces.

Chatham County added a new staff member, Mrs. Olma Lynn Gaines, to supervise the lunch programs for all the schools. In addition to purchasing food commodities in bulk, she appoints a different committee of lunchroom supervisors each month to plan the menus. Besides saving the county money, the program provides students published menus in advance. Mrs. Helen Baker, lunchroom supervisor at Chatham Central, and her staff continue to add their own personal touch to provide tempting lunches. Central's custodial staff includes Mr. and Mrs. James Fields and Mrs. Margaret Smith.

sell. These were the words of Business Manager Jenny Jones and Secretary Testermann after the halfway mark of their $2,500.00 goal was attained. They headed an ad staff including Debbie Fields, Janine Brady, Peggy Brooks, Marjorie Jones, Gaylene Harper, and Lynn Dowdy. Beginning in June, the staff canvassed businesses in the surrounding communities. This campaign proved to be beneficial, both financially and experience wise. Staff members truly appreciate the kind reception and generous nature many of our advertisers showed us. We hope that our donors have only just begun a relationship with the school which will expand and continue year by year.

LEFT: Chief Cheerleader Diana Brewer sadly removes her uniforms from her locker for the last time to turn them in. Diana did an excellent job rallying the fans and other cheerleaders in showing real school spirit at games — something that had been lost in the past few years. BELOW: With a mixture of emotions, the senior members of the football team turn in their equipment to Coach Marlyn Scott after their last game. Happy because they've finished the best season Central has had in years, they are also sad because it's all over. PAGE 161: A culmination of months of hard work, the '73 CENTRALIA is completed at last! Mrs. Betty Caviness supervises as co-editors Daisy Thompson and Debbie Fields pack the box to send to Hunter Publishing Company.

Verona,

Here's hoping that the "jinxed" condition you've been under for the past few months has vanished for good and that good health and much happiness will bless your entire future. It has been a pleasure to have you in class. Love,
Betty Carvers

UPPER: Along with the academic side of school, the romantic side also developed through the year. Sandy Fesmire and Bryan Goldston are seen here reminiscing over the good and bad times they've had. LOWER: One of the common sights in May is students cramming for final exams. Ruth Ann Taylor relaxes on one of the benches in front of the school, away from the noise, while studying chemistry. PAGE 163: A happy ending to any year — graduation. Shelia Bynum and Bob Parrish try on their caps and gowns while Bob straightens Shelia's tassel. Both of these students have a special reason to be happy and proud. Bob has the highest scholastic average of the '73 graduating class and Shelia, the second highest.

It has been nice knowing you for the

the good old days back in the times together. You are a wonderful person to have as a friend. If there were other people like you, the world would be a better place. Keep up the good work and you'll go far in life. Best wishes and good luck and hope all your dreams come true.

Verna,
I just don't know where to begin. We've really been through a lot haven't we. Some bad, but mostly good. Feb. 9, really struck it rich didn't it, well all but Jimmy S.
He's the one exception. Typing II will never be the same without us.

Now we're about ready to graduate, and you're going in the Navy. I think it will be a great opportunity for you. It will give you time to get yourself together.
Just remember and send me a postcard every now and then. I'll still be in Carbonate.

If you ever sail your battleship up the river, sound your horn and I'll come see you. I'll probably be working at THE HOUSE IN THE HORSE SHOE till the floors fall out, which won't be long. Remember all the wild times we had, especially Ben S. Johnson. (Who could forget him.)
Stay cool and remember this. It's your life and you've got a right to do what you want. Don't let anybody make you go against your wishes. Be good and write me. once in awhile. (Send the letter by air duck.) God bless ya!

 letting me share part of your life. Love you

Verna,
Well, there is no way I'll ever forget you. No matter how hard I try, there's just no way. I'll always remember all the times
you and Carolyn laid out, came in late and left early. It's just ~~too~~ bad there's not some sort of job open to some one who can do all that.
You'd be an expert and make your million that way. You are one of the hottest people I know and a lot of fun.
Good luck and best

I do not know where to start. We know each other since the 1st grade. "Boy what a long time ago." It does not seem like 12 years, and this is our last year. It finally got here "at last." Remember the things we did in Siler City. So Wild! Don't forget the night we went brown bagging, and could not find a cpl. Because we wanted one. But the night we did not want one we had one. When we parked on the new road going to Siler City before it was fixed. With Harold Dean & Eddie. What a night ~~was~~ that was. Oh! and don't forget the night we went to the all night movie, and ~~we~~ stayed out or up all night. and then I met Mike. and Sunday you, & Carolyn, Tony, Mike, and I got into the front seat of Mike's car. We were what you call close together that day. Then you met Clay. Oh! if you ever get him away from the bowling alley. Let me know. I hope that you find the one you have been looking for. Good luck in the future. You may need it.

A friend always,
